ISMET BLAMES FRANCE FOR BREAK

Says Her Attitude on Financial and Economical Discussions Interrupted Lausanne Conference.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.
Constantinople, Feb. 22.—France was blamed by Ismet Pasha today for the break-up of the Near East peace negotiations at Lausanne. A telegram from Ankara quoted Ismet (who was head of the Turkish delegation in the Lausanne conference) as telling the Turkish national assembly: "We did all in our power to prevent a break-up of the negotiations. We made generous concessions but the Allies were unyielding. The attitude of France on financial and economic matters interrupted the discussions."

There was a long meeting of the cabinet before the assembly convened today. Ismet told members of the cabinet of various intimate confidences he had with representatives of the Allied powers.

The national assembly has decided to print the complete text of the Allied powers' proposals. They will be discussed again in general session of the assembly on Saturday. Heretofore opinion has been strong that the Lausanne terms would be rejected, but belief has sprung up in some quarters that past 24 hours that they would be accepted by a close margin.

Ismet Pasha has been working hard for acceptance of the conditions.

INFANT MORTALITY RATE 90 PER THOUSAND HERE

Birth Rate Slightly Exceeded Death Rate.

Provisional reports on the birth rate, death rate and infant mortality rate for the state of New York and individual cities as compiled by the Division of Vital Statistics of the New York State Department of Health were today made public by Dr. Hermann M. Briggs, state commissioner of health. The death rate for the entire state last year was exactly 13 as compared with 12.3 in 1921. The birth rate was 21.6 as compared with 22.8 in 1921. The infant mortality rate stood at 77 deaths for every 1,000 children born alive.

The infant mortality in Kingston for 1922 was 90 per thousand, the birth rate 20.9 and the death rate 13.0.

TALK OF NEW MANSION FOR STATE'S GOVERNOR

On Vacant Plot of Ground Just West of Capitol.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.
Albany, Feb. 22.—There is talk at the Capitol about the possibility of a new State Executive Mansion on the vacant plot of ground just to the west of the Capitol.

The block, which is opposite the State Education building, was purchased about three years ago by the state, and then it was proposed to erect upon it a modern office building. Subsequently strong opposition arose against the proposed state office building, because, it was said, it would block the view of the beautiful million dollar education building.

DAIRY LEAGUE WITHDRAWAL PERIOD HALF COMPLETE

On February 20 the end of the first half of the so-called cancellation period, the Dairyman's League Co-operative Association reports that the number of withdrawals received at its main office in Utica totaled 2,284. While this is a larger number of withdrawals than had been received during the same period last year, nevertheless, it doesn't go much beyond the expectations of the officials of the organization.

ALBANY FRANCHISE IS BEFORE BIDDERS TODAY

Whether Albany will continue to be represented in professional basketball as a member of the New York state league will be decided today at one or two conferences to be attended by representatives of interested parties to see the franchise retained, both from business and sportsman's reasons.

Some Albany business men are endeavoring to buy the franchise as representatives from both Gloversville and Utica.

Celebrate Today in Paris.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.
Paris, Feb. 22.—French citizens united with the America colony today in celebrating Washington's birthday. A flag, donated to Paris by M. W. Alexander of Philadelphia, was flown over the city hall. The names of Washington and Foch are entwined in gold letters. There will be a "Washington dinner" at the American embassy this evening.

John A. Logan's Widow Dead.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.
Washington, Feb. 22.—Mrs. Mary Simmons Cunningham Logan, widow of John A. Logan, Civil War general and later a United States senator, died at her home here today following a ten days' illness of bronchitis.

New England Supper.

A New England supper will be served in the dining room of St. James's M. E. Church on April 11, 1923, by the Ladies' Guild.

COUGHLIN TALKS ON WASHINGTON

On Wednesday morning, the members of the high school were given an interesting and inspiring address by Thomas F. Coughlin, a local attorney.

With a subject so much talked about as "Washington" it is difficult to say something that is interesting and new, but Mr. Coughlin did full justice to the subject and dealt in a most interesting manner on the life of the first president, taking the subject from a new point of view, and emphasizing the things that the great leader left his country when he lay down on his death bed.

Washington was great in more than one way. An Englishman by birth, trained in the manners of the aristocracy, wealthy, and holding a commission in the army of the king, he declined command of a large portion of the British forces to take charge of a small band of untrained farmers to match them against the best trained forces in Europe with no greater purpose than to save liberty for a country that was divided geographically and spiritually. The petty jealousies he had to deal with, little acts of prejudice in his own ranks, could only be overcome by a man with his understanding of men and his fair treatment of everyone alike. Leading his small band across and up and down the colonial territory, keeping ahead of the enemy to wear them out because the colonists were outnumbered, and then suddenly turning to literally "slap the British in the face" then retreat until his military skill wore the British out and attracted the attention of her age-old enemy, France. His magnanimity was again shown after the war had been brought to a successful close, when he, loved by all, hailed as the man for king, could have set up his own kingdom, handed in his resignation as the leader and retired until the demands of the people again brought him into public life as the first president.

Again acting in his usual just way, he chose his cabinet from men representing all types of ideas and with their powers developed this country. When he retired from office, he left for the America of today and tomorrow some of the best advice that could be given, this in his "Farewell Address," in which he denounces strongly local jealousies, prejudiced opinions, and division of the union because of creed. There are, the speaker said, organizations today arising in absolute opposition to the ideals contained in this precious document, bands who have the object of making everyone see as they, or not see at all. These organizations should not be tolerated, for they will cause the same trouble in the America of today as was caused by the "original colonies," the prejudiced interstate taxes, and many other local jealousies in the country when it first was known as an independent nation.

These organizations must be done away with by the people of this country, acting upon the advice of this faithful guide, Washington. The America of today is an America built by the toil and pain of men of all races and creeds, strengthened by justice, and defended by the love of liberty for all alike. We citizens might be of different creeds, we might think differently on political questions, but above all we are all Americans, and for that reason should stand together for those principles which were laid down in the Declaration of Independence and the Constitution, and so strongly defended by the "Father of his Country" while holding office, and so urgently endorsed by him in his last message to the people of the land he loved so well.

ANDERSON NOT TO WAIVE IMMUNITY AT INQUIRY

Brackett Tells Pecora—Grand Jury Questioning Monday.

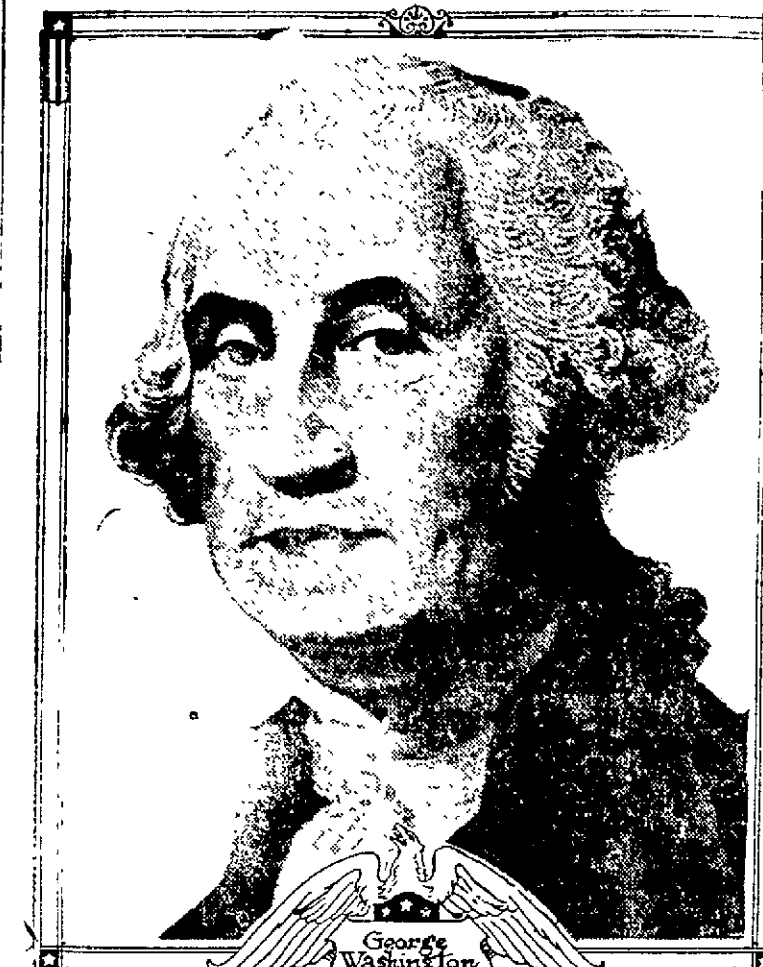

Acting District Attorney Pecora was informed Wednesday in a letter from Edgar T. Brackett, counsel for William H. Anderson, state superintendent of the Anti-Saloon League, that Mr. Anderson would not be permitted to waive immunity and testify before a grand jury investigating league financial affairs. Mr. Anderson's attitude, Mr. Pecora said later, is not in keeping with an offer he made last September, when he informed District Attorney Banton in a letter that he was willing to go before the grand jury under a waiver of immunity. That was when the matter of the league's finances were first brought to the attention of the district attorney's office.

STREET FORCE STILL BUSY DIGGING OUT CITY STREETS

The holiday today was not observed by the members of the street department who were busy all day removing the snow drifts from the city streets. The work of removing the snow has been under way since early in January, and there is still much work to be done.

One Arrest Wednesday.

Benjamin Meyers, a taxi driver, was arrested Wednesday afternoon at the Rhinecliff ferry house by Officer Kersman, on a charge of soliciting passengers while standing more than five feet from his car. The hearing was adjourned to Friday.

COST WASHINGTON MUCH TO LIVE BRITISH MAY LEAVE COLOGNE

New York White House, Where he Loved to Entertain, Run at $25,000 Per Year.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.
Albany, Feb. 22.—Between the butcher, the baker and the candlestick maker, and the coal dealer, too, it cost George Washington a pretty penny to run the White House back in 1789, when it was located in New York city. An itemized list of Washington's household expenses from May 24, to August 24, 1789, heretofore unpublished, in the characteristic penmanship of Washington himself, reveals the first president as having been a mighty good provider. The expenses of the household for the quarter ran to 1,741 pounds and 9 shillings, which figures out to about $25,000 for the year.

The interesting manuscript, a part of the Washington collection owned by the state and kept in a huge steel vault in the basement of the Educational Building, was examined a day or so ago by State Librarian Weyer and Secretary of State Hamilton. It appears that when Washington became president, he expressed an unwillingness to receive any money from the public treasury beyond his actual expenses, and in order to compute these for the year, he kept an itemized list for the three months.

During that period, the butcher bill amounted to $660, the itemized list showing that George's table was graced on four occasions with turkeys, costing all told, $15. The Washington household must also have been rather partial to lobster, for there is an item of $45 covering this delicacy. During the three months the milk and cream bill ran up to $145, while the bread bill amounted to $180.

The Washington household couldn't have been very fond of cake for the head figured out the cake expense for the three months as being but 17 shillings. Vegetables cost $290, butter $265, while there is also an item of about $100 for ice cream, but $75 of this was spent in one day. Candles ran to $85; wood to $145, while the coal bill for three months was but $30.

Washington's tables were also supplied with various beverages, and the statement shows that during the three months about $105 worth of claret was consumed, while Washington's estimate for porter was $45, for beer $170, while the cordials ran to but five shillings.

RUBE FORSYTH WITH COLONIALS

Twirler Who Was Sensation of Hudson Valley Last Season Signs Contract to Appear With Kingston Colonials This Season—Boxing Bout Here.

Rube Forsyth, the pitching sensation of last season in the Hudson river valley, will appear in a Colonial uniform this season having signed a contract with Manager Lou Brown. Rube pitched the Astor Club of Rhinebeck through to success last season, and finished the season with the Kingston Colonials. At that time he assured Manager Brown that he would give the Colonials first preference when it came to signing a contract for 1923. Rube in signing up with the locals has kept his agreement. He will be a decided addition to the pitching staff of the locals.

Wednesday afternoon Manager Brown and Secretary Scherer met with the directors of the Kingston Fair Grounds and talked over plans for this coming season. Arrangements are being made to hold boxing bouts on the grounds during the summer months if a license can be obtained from the state boxing commission. Application for the license was made some time ago.

The baseball season this year will open in April, and present plans contemplate at least three games a week on Wednesdays, Saturdays and Sundays.

Today Secretary Scherer was busy securing the signatures to contracts of all the local players who played last season.

FILM AFIRE, QUICKLY OUT

Keeney's Might Have Been Tested Had Not Operator Hopper Put Out Little Blaze Before Firemen Arrived.

About forty feet of film was destroyed by fire which was caused in the projection booth of the Keeney Theater about nine o'clock Wednesday night when the picture machine became blocked, but the blaze was extinguished quickly by Operator Frank Hopper although a still alarm was sent in for Wiltwyck Hose Company, whose services were found to be unnecessary.

A motion picture film contains from twelve to fourteen pictures to each foot of film, and there is a shutter, built on the plan of a camera shutter, which opens and closes between each of the tiny pictures. The shutter is operated by a series of wheels and sprockets connected with the other wheels and sprockets of the picture machine, and when the delicately-built shutter gets out of order a film instead of continuing to move becomes clogged in the small space in front of the strong electric light used for showing the picture. Thirty or forty feet of film thus can buckle up and clog the machine in an incredibly short space of time. That is what happened when the picture machine got out of order Wednesday night.

The heat from the electric light in the picture machine is so strong that unless film is kept in motion there is danger of the film catching fire, and when about forty feet of film clogged the machine it was ignited by the heat from the electric light.

The performance was delayed only a few minutes. After extinguishing the blaze, the operator readjusted the film, and the picture proceeded. There was a little excitement among some members of the audience who were not aware that the projection room is absolutely fireproof and it is possible for all film in it to burn without the slightest danger to the rest of the theater.

OVER SIX FEET OF SNOW FELL

Amount Not Up to Record for Winter of 1919-20, but There is Plenty of Time Yet—Record of Snow Fall Kept by Saugerties Resident.

The Saugerties Post says: According to the records kept exactly six feet and one-half of snow have fallen since the beginning of the season. There have been twenty-seven days on which it has fallen in sufficient quantity to be measured and two additional days on which there was a trace. It will require 2.7 inches more to equal the record of the winter of 1919-1920.

Practically all of the snow that has fallen this winter has remained on the ground, very little of it melting because there have been less thawing days this season than any other of which there is a record. On other years where there have been heavy falls of snow there have been warm periods during the season so only a small amount remained on the ground.

The greatest fall recorded on any one day this season was 8.8 inches on January 24th. The greatest fall in seven days was during the week ending Wednesday, January 9 when snow fell on five days leaving a total of 16.9 inches. During the seven days ending last week Wednesday snow fell on six days with a total fall of 11.1 inches.

In the season of 1919-1920 there was one storm when 14.5 inches fell. This was on February 5 and 6; 13.7 inches falling up to midnight on the 5th and 8 inches more on the 6th—before the storm ended.

Following is the record of the total number of inches that fell each season for the past six years:

1917-18, 57.4 inches; 1918-19, 26.9 inches; 1919-20, 75.2 inches; 1920-21, 36.4 inches; 1921-22, 35.00 inches; 1922 to Feb 13, inclusive, 72.6 inches.

DRUNKARDS SWITCH FROM BEER TO HOOCH

Hospital and Police Figures Show Increase in Alcoholism.

Under the heading, "Increase in Alcoholism," the Journal of the American Medical Association recently printed the following paragraph referring to New York city and Brooklyn:

Dr. S. Dana Hubbard, director of public health education of the department of health, has recently made public figures showing that, since the last year before the prohibition law went into effect, there has been a constant increase in this city in the number of arrests for drunkenness, the number of deaths due to wood alcohol poisoning and the number of persons admitted to Bellevue and Kings County hospitals suffering from acute alcoholism. The figures show that during the last year 5,624 persons suffering from acute alcoholism were admitted to those two hospitals, as against 3,345 for the preceding year. Likewise the number of deaths from alcoholism nearly doubled last year. For 1922, the deaths numbered 295 as against 141 for 1921. The number of deaths, however, is smaller than it was in the years preceding prohibition. In 1916, for example, 690 persons died in this city from alcoholism. The low mark was reached in 1920 with 127 deaths but since that time there has been a rapid increase.

Dr. Hubbard's figures have been verified by those of the police department, which show that 7,366 persons were arrested in this city for drunkenness in 1922, as against 6,233 in 1921. In 1920, the number of arrests was 5,936. Dr. Hubbard's interpretation of the figures is that prohibition has increased the number of immoderate drinkers, and that those who drink have switched from beer to spirits.

Mr. and Mrs. Alonzo Davis called on Mr. and Mrs. Herman Morris on Wednesday evening last.

THE OFFICE CAT

By Junius

A Crooked Story.
He was a bow legged beau,
And she was a knock-kneed swain—
They went to a pigeon-toed preacher,
Who quickly made them twain.

Their children grew up together,
As crooked as could be—
They went with a club-footed sheriff
To the penitentiary.

A Good Reason.
"Jimmy," said the teacher, "why is it that lightning never strikes in the same place?"
"Because," said Jimmy confidently, "after it hits once, the same place ain't there any more."

You can't get around it, kindness pays. Pat a stray dog and he will follow you a mile. Lend some men a quarter and they will come back tomorrow to borrow a dollar.

Home—the place where we are treated best and grumble most.

In Germany the people have reformed in at least one way. They do not gamble for money any more. In Germany there isn't any.

Oh, wad some power the giftie gie us
To see ourselves as others see us,
Nethinks 'twould so reduce our chests
That we could wear our little vests,
Wrapped twine around and still so slack
That they could button in the back.

When the book agent confesses that few families have sufficient culture to appreciate the work, the set is sold.

Keep out of ruts! A rut is something which if traveled in too much, becomes a ditch.

A lot of persons come to settle in the city who are not able to settle up after they get settled down.

Babies when they are born accept their parents without protest. When the babies get older, though, they make up for it.

Georges Carpentier is practically through, and there's one more idle idol.

'Tis Mighty Strange.
"It's queer," remarked Jinks.
"What is?" asked Blinks.
"That with all the people looking for and borrowing trouble I can't get rid of mine," replied Jinks.

One thing certain, success has a chance to spoil few people.

ALLABEN.

Allaben, Feb. 21.—Miss Clementine Lafferty is having a vacation of a few weeks. She has recovered from her recent illness.

Miss Ruth Risley, who teaches at the Wittenberg, was home the week end.

Mrs. Charles Peck, who was quite ill last week, is improving.

Mr. and Mrs. George E. Yerry, Sr., are enjoying a few days in Newark, N. J.

Miss Nellie Van Steenburgh of Kingston called on some old friends in Allaben last Saturday afternoon.

THE NEW COLLARS

Bertha and Panel Two of Latest in Neck Decorations.

Half Collars, All-the-Way-Round and Odd-Shaped Affairs Produce Unusual Lines.

So frequently the frock that is satisfactory in every other detail promises complete failure because of its unbecoming neckline. The continued vogue of the round or bateau shaped neck has given rise to several clever collar fashions to meet the need of the many to whom neither an unbecoming neckline nor the bateau shape is becoming.

The bertha and the panel collar are two of the newest and most popular aids to becomingness—the former deep, variously shaped, slightly full or plain, and reminiscent of another day and age. The panel collar is a varied affair, but two types are most prominently featured—one-half bertha and half panel, that may be worn with the panel in back and the bertha in front or vice versa, and the panel both front and back.

For those to whom neither bertha nor panel style is becoming, there are the half collars; all-the-way-round collars, similar to the bertha, but narrower, and various odd shaped affairs that produce unusual lines. All-the-way-round collars and the bertha may be had in a style that is broken at the shoulder so that a too plain effect, unbecoming to many, is relieved by a glimpse of the fabric of the gown.

FASHION FRILLS

White broadcloth and ermine are combined in a very charming coat dress. Wide cuffs and the long narrow collar which reaches to the waistline are of fur. The gown is on straight easy lines and is worn with a stunning turban of draped black velvet and silver.

Imported from France are some new dress ornaments which are very striking on evening gowns. The ornament is a spray of flowers in a material that resembles blistered mother-of-pearl and is heightened in brilliancy by a design in brilliant red or sapphire stones. Some of the more elaborate ornaments have fringes of pearls falling from them.

Caracul is an excellent wearing fur, astrakhan, baby lamb and all the furs of this flat, curly variety wear well, but when they are out of style there is nothing more "out." It is simply impossible to wear them. Though it seems now that no fur is as familiar with can ever possibly be out of style again, one must be a little careful in making the investment in fur which is, as a matter of economy, almost a life-time investment.

Carved wood is being used for shoe buckles and umbrella handles. White porcelain and the new bleached ivory are the very latest thing in handles. Ere's apples are a favorite device. These are carved realistically from the ivory and faintly tinted on one side. When porcelain is used the dead white Chelsea variety is very effective and is usually finished with an apple green and metal wrist strap. The new umbrellas are very short and have eight, ten and even 12 ribs.

A new device in wedding veils is a folded band of silver tissue drawn straight across the forehead low over the eyebrows. On the left side of this bandeau is fastened a spray of silver and white satin orange blossoms and a loop of tulle which falls into a cloud over the train of cobweb silver lace and floats a couple of yards on the carpet. The bridal dress worn with this veil is of parchment-tinted chiffon velvet, slightly draped on one hip. The silver lace train is draped over the right shoulder in a sort of cape. The left arm is bare except for an invisible net sleeve which shows only at the wrist, where it is outlined in a point with silver thread.

"Squashy" Hats Are Smart.

It is noticeable that a great many of the new hats are of the "squashy" type. They may be made of the most luxurious plush or velvet, but their tendency is to be floppy of brim and crushy of crown, no matter what their size. An attractive trimming for the black hat of this sort is a garland of vari-colored roses, which are hardly more than swirls of soft silk.

He's a Philosopher.

Little George is an embryonic philosopher. He said the other day at table: "Now, when I sit in my chair my feet won't touch the floor, but when I walk around they touch the floor as well as anybody's."—Woman's Home Companion.

WHY NOT ASK SISTER?

Considerable publicity has been given the movement sponsored by the Women's Federation of this city to establish a Young Women's Christian Association in Kingston, ostensibly for the mental and spiritual benefit of the young women employed in various stores and factories. With the exception of some rather indefinite statistics gathered by the Federation, the wishes of those whom it is sought to benefit have not been made apparent. Consultation seems to have been among what we may call the producers, rather than the proposed consumers. The only matter thus far settled—that there ought to be an organization and that it ought to be a Young Women's Christian Association in preference to anything else—seems to have been agreed on at a meeting attended by women who are neither store nor factory workers, a few preachers, educators and employers. Up to date it has not been announced that any of those who decided what was best for the workers have subscribed any considerable sum toward paying for the enterprise. Why not give the consumers a chance to express their desires—if they have any?

THE WRONG REMEDY.

The Twomey bill, prohibiting anyone not a licensed druggist from owning an interest in a drug store, evidently has the support of the New York State Pharmaceutical Association, which sends out a circular in which it is charged that inferior drugs and chemicals, as well as dangerous whiskey, are being dispensed in hundreds of mushroom drug stores that have been established since the advent of prohibition.

The circular further says that more than 300 violations of the pharmacy law were reported last year by state inspectors in stores owned by non-pharmacists. No doubt this is all true, but the remedy is obvious: enforce the law and send the guilty ones to prison. That some stores owned by non-pharmacists, as well as some owned by pharmacists, need watching, is no reason why capital owned by a person who has not passed some particular examination should be barred from investment in a drug store or any other business enterprise operated in conformity with the existing laws.

A PLAGUE OF EXPERTS.

Wilbur F. Wakeman, editor of the American Economist, commenting on the establishment of an information bureau in New York to give advice to the love-lorn and seeker after great economic truths, calls attention to the fact that the head of the bureau when once asked by Roosevelt's Secretary of the Treasury Leslie M. Shaw as to how he arrived at the value of the Cuban peso, replied that he estimated the bullion value thereof. Whereupon he was made aware of the non-existence of such a coin. The country is full of "economic experts" of this brand at the present time. They advertise their ability to give help and advice on any economic subjects at so much per tariff "experts" are very numerous, notwithstanding the oft quoted statement of the late Champ Clark. When Clark opened the debate for the opposition on the Payne tariff bill, March 24, 1909, he said: "The study of the tariff has been the favorite study of my life. I have studied it much. I thought when these hearings began that I knew practically all about it. When we got through, I felt like Sir Isaac Newton said he felt after making those great scientific discoveries which placed his name at the top of the scanty list of the immortals—like a boy walking upon the seashore, picking up shells."

Clark made that confession after he had served 16 years in congress, during which time he specialized on the tariff, a subject which he had debated extensively as far back as 1876. Clark was one of the best minds the Democratic party has produced. From the Democratic standpoint he was easily the ablest tariff debater in the Lower House while in his prime. Possibly in the course of another 34 years, had he lived, he might have become a convert to the protective doctrine. But with all his knowledge on the subject, he never had the conceit to set himself up as an expert. That has remained for some of the younger generation to avow. The world and the nation are so full of "economic experts" that we don't seem able to get down to practical economy as quickly as we would if there were fewer economic theorists and more common sense thinkers.

What do you want to know about Nature Subjects? Send any questions of general interest to the Nature Notes Dept. of this paper, enclosing self-addressed and stamped envelope for reply.

Can You Answer These Questions?

1. Is there any difference in size between golden and ruby crowned kinglets? Can I tell which is which by size?
2. Are the veins in a butterfly's wings really veins?
3. How long does it take to grow a ten pound fish from an egg?

Answers in Tomorrow's Nature Notes.

Answers to Previous Questions.

1. How many vertebrae have snakes?
A great many—the number varies. Some species have over a hundred. The snake is a wonderful example of perfect mechanism in its vertebrae, each being ball shaped at one end and cup shaped at the other, the sections thus fitting and turning perfectly one on the other, giving the body great flexibility.
2. How do beavers work in gnawing into trees?
Much has been written on the beaver's method of biting. A good account is in Elliott Coues's article on rodents in the Riverside Natural History. The wood is gnawed in parallel furrows across the grain, these furrows being two or three inches apart; then the chip between them is evidently bitten or wrenched out; for in the furrows the marks between the gouges only the turn of the wood is seen. The result is exactly that of an axeman in knocking out a chip by a cut above and below it.
3. I want to mend a crack in a good specimen bird's egg. Is there any special way?
It can be strengthened by a bit of gummed tissue, or if you do not fancy that type of patch, try flexible collodion, recommended by collectors. A smashed shell can sometimes be reconstructed by making a model of putty and gumming the bits onto it. You would need accurate measurements of the kind of shell to do this successfully.

OUR DAILY PATTERN.

An Attractive Comfortable Apron.

Pattern 3719 is here illustrated. It is cut in 4 sizes: Small, 34-36; medium, 38-40; large, 42-44; extra large, 46-48 inches bust measure. A medium size requires 5 1/2 yards of 27 inch material.

Gingham could be used for this, or seersucker, lawn, drill, percale, saten and alpaca.

A D. A. R. MESSAGE TO BOYS AND GIRLS

A Kingston Daughter of the American Revolution has asked The Freeman to print the following message to Kingston boys and girls:

"While the month of February is the shortest month of the year it is nevertheless a month of tremendous significance to the American people, because it brings back to their minds the name and achievements of George Washington and Abraham Lincoln. One name is linked forever with the beginning of our national history, the other speaks to us of a terrific crisis through which the nation came only after a fearful price had been paid in bloodshed, treasure and tears. Without the services of these men we dare not imagine what disaster might have occurred, nor how different the story of this continent might have been. Upon Washington fell the burden of leadership in the achievement of our independence and during the critical days when the new republic was organizing itself for its future place among the great nations of the world, it devolved upon Lincoln to guide the nation through four dark and awful years of a great Civil War to remove from our seething the foul blot of human slavery, and to reveal to all the world the capacity of a free government to withstand all assault upon its integrity.

"The debt which we of this generation owe to the memory of these men is incalculably large, and can only be discharged by the giving of ourselves to the nation with the same splendid devotion which was characteristic of each of them. Our government has made the birthdays of these men national holidays in order that we may pause in the midst of our busy activities and fix our attention upon the qualities of character which these men illustrated and without which we never could have come to our present position of national greatness. By remembering what they did we are to be inspired to a loftier patriotism, to be exalted to a more self-sacrificing love for that flag and country to which Washington and Lincoln gave the last full measure of their devotion. February then is pre-eminently a month of rededication to those principles of government that are peculiar to the United States of America. No man or woman living under the stars and stripes should allow this month to go by without thanking God for a home in this country, and without pledging a new allegiance to a government that enshrines the greatest hopes of the human race.

"God is surely behind the momentous happenings of the present hour even as He was in the events of 1776 and 1861. As He guided the men whose birthdays are sacred to us, may He guide us because like them we are willing to be led where He points the way."

ROSENDALE.

Rosendale, Feb. 22.—The old fashioned dance held at the parish house on Lincoln's Birthday, was well attended by the village people, and all report a very pleasant time. It was so much enjoyed that there will be another one on Thursday evening, February 23.

The Misses Deloris Hayden of New Jersey and Mamie Sammons of New York city were recent guests of their parents in this village.

Mrs. Ira Carney of Ossining is visiting her daughter, Mrs. Henry Moore.

Mrs. Rufus Snyder has returned to Ridgewood, N. J., where she expects to spend the remainder of the winter.

Mrs. Mary Dunbar is slowly recovering from an attack of pneumonia.

Miss Helen Dockstader of Cornwall spent a few days with her mother, Mrs. Kate Dockstader, the past week.

Mrs. Henry Moore, who has been quite sick, is much better and able to be out once more.

Miss Mary Ten Hagen and gentleman friend of Bellville, N. J., were guests of her parents over the past week end.

Frederick Engel returned to his home in this village on Saturday after spending several days in the city.

John F. Russell is up at his farm he recently purchased of Mr. Kline, just below the village, getting things in readiness for the Scout Boys this summer.

Miss Helen R. White was a guest of Mrs. Joseph Mooney of Maple Hill on Monday last.

William Fisher, the village electrician, has finished installing electric lights in All Saints' rectory.

Harry Baxter had his ice house filled with fine ice taken from the Rondout creek at High Falls.

Mr. Varga, who has been occupying the rooms in the Sammons building the past year or more, moved the past week to the Murphy Cottage on Sand Hill.

Village Clerk James F. Brown is still confined to his home on James street with a sprained ankle.

BETTER, BETTER SPRAY

Day by day, in every way, your fruit is better if you spray. This is no dream, for you can see the fruit improve upon the tree.

If deadly bugs, you would destroy. None but the best of sprays employ, "Black Lead 400" works so well. It is sure to ring the bug's death knell.

Lead and Arsenate purchased dry, will cause the codling moth to die. Good old "Scotch" with the fat is just the cure for worst of scale.

Fungus is a combined spray. To keep the codling moth away. Fungus, too it will prevent. And leave the fruit man quite content.

So don't delay, but start to spray. To raise the fruit, you know will pay. Later, when good fruit is sold, You'll count your profits in real gold.

CHAPTER OBSERVES 100TH BIRTHDAY

Arch Masons Gather at Mt. Horeb and With Banquet, Speeches and Music Celebrate Century of Existence.

One hundred years ago, February 4, when Kingston was but a hamlet, Mt. Horeb Chapter, No. 75, Royal Arch Masons was instituted, and Wednesday night, at its regular convocation, celebrated its centennial with appropriate ceremony. Many visiting Royal Arch Masons from sister chapters were present, including the present high priest and six past high priests of Catskill Chapter, No. 255; one past high priest of Mountain Chapter, No. 250, of Windham; two past assistant grand lecturers of this capitol district, as well as the present assistant grand lecturer, and the following officers of the Grand Chapter of Royal Arch Masons of the State of New York. Most Excellent George E. Briggs of Peekskill, grand high priest; and Right Excellent John F. Birmingham, grand king William L. Dickerson, grand lecturer. Charles Hammel, grand captain of the host and William L. Condit, grand royal arch captain, together with more than two hundred companions of Mount Horeb Chapter, No. 75 including ten of its past high priests.

GEORGE E. BRIGGS.

Snow white tables seating two hundred or more, decorated with red carnations generously donated by A. Burke's Sons were set throughout the several rooms of the Masonic Hall on Wall street, and after enjoying at 6:30 a most delicious and bountiful dinner, served on the ladies of the Amaranth and enhanced by music furnished by Burt's orchestra, the chapter was duly opened at 8 o'clock by High Priest Harry F. Pierce. After completing necessary business, the high priest called Past High Priest Arthur C. Connelly to preside, who then received with proper honors the grand high priest and his staff and the officers of sister chapters. The reception was followed by a violin solo, "Deep Rivers," by Benjamin W. Johnston, who later also rendered "Orientale" in a most artistic manner.

Grand High Priest Briggs was then introduced and addressed the chapter upon the subject of Royal Arch Masonry, its duties, obligations and opportunities for real service to mankind, congratulating Mt. Horeb upon its hundred years of active and constructive work and closing his inspiring remarks with fitting allusions to the life and character of the great Mason Washington, upon the eve of whose birthday this celebration occurred.

After a delightful organ number, "Hymn to the Sun," by Companion W. W. Frederburgh the chapter organized the presiding officer introduced Ex Comp Augustus H. Van Buren, past high priest of Mt. Horeb who spoke briefly upon some unrecorded events in the history of the chapter and then delivered one of the most polished and interesting addresses ever heard in the Temple. He spoke as follows:

A hundred years a century. Quite a space of time but in the history of a nation or a people but a span.

A hundred years ago Monroe was president and had just issued his famous proclamation to Europe, hands of America. Grover Cleveland who in after years was to caution England not to violate it was yet unborn.

George Fourth sat on the throne of England not as yet comprehending what Andrew Jackson had done to his red coats down at New Orleans. Louis Elzteenth feverishly paced the gilded halls of the Tuilleries while in far away St. Helena the great Napoleon slept the sleep that knows no awaking.

William First was walking the shades of Unter den Linden never dreaming that his great grandson was to convulse the world in the greatest war of all time.

Lord Byron was fighting for the liberty of Greece within sight of the Parthenon at Athens.

A tall, ungainly, homely youth of fourteen was hunting squirrels and angling for trout in the woods of Indiana while not far away in a log cabin a mother sat singing her baby boy to sleep. The one in after years became somewhat known to men by the name of Abraham Lincoln and the baby boy led his blue coated troops to victory at Appomattox.

Genial Joseph C. Yates was governor of New York and all the way from Buffalo to Montauk Point men were gathering great heaps of brush to light the bonfires in celebration of the opening of the Erie Canal. The United States did not include many more people than now crowd Greater New York and its surroundings.

Washington was a country village through whose muddy streets statesmen struggled with many a curse and many a groan. Among them just elected to congress from Massachusetts was the defender of the constitution and with him Henry Clay, who would bet his last dollar on a horse race.

The plains of the great west were still tenanted by the red men and still trembled beneath the hoof beats of their countless herds of buffalo.

The first steamship had but a few years before crossed the Atlantic Europe was months away and China was still peopled with satyrs and dragons.

Samuel Morse was painting portraits in his studio in New York and perhaps dreaming of the telegraph and the cable.

The telephone, the automobile, the airship, wireless radio did not exist even in the wildest hallucinations of madmen Kingston was a little sleepy village through whose streets the cows were driven home from pasture and in which every one went to church and devoutly listened to sermons which neither the good domines or any of their hearers understood.

At such a time and in such an environment Mt. Horeb Chapter was born. It is a strange, unaccountable fact that ever since the steel grail, dawn of history in every country, in every clime, among all peoples men have formed secret societies.

Egypt had the sacred cult of Osiris, Chaldea the golden Childe of Bel The Hindus the Beggar of Buddha, Greece the Eleusians and the temple at Delphi. The Hebrews the Essenes wearing a white robe and apron and carrying a shawl. Many of the secret societies that flourished during the past ages were good and beneficent organizations, many evil and bad. Each of them whether good or evil had their origin in two things, the craving of man for the mysterious and the object and purpose to redress some wrong either real or imaginary or inculcate some belief that would rejuvenate the world.

Look back over the past. What a sad weary road humanity has traveled. Its path is drenched in blood and bedewed with tears. The hand of man has ever been raised against his fellows. Down Eros, up Mars has been the cry of the ages. Each race, each people, each nation regarded and looked upon all others as their enemy. Even the polished and cultured Greek regarded all the rest of mankind as barbarians. The duties of one people existed only to destroy the Gods and the devotees of all other people. Osiris forever waged war against Bel, Jupiter forever led only the hosts of Greece and hurled his thunderbolts against all the rest of mankind. Jehovah, merciless, wrathful, revengeful, reigned only to lead the armies of Israel and to destroy the enemies of the Jew. But now and then throughout all the ages some John the Baptist came forth from the wilderness proclaiming a new faith and some Nazarene climbed the slopes of Calvary teaching the brotherhood of man.

These saints and martyrs, these prophets and seers have existed in every country and in every clime. Each gathered about him a handful of followers who preached the great truth and flames of persecution that wrapped them in a glory eternal. Slowly very slowly the truth spread.

A thousand armies battled and died for it and still the struggle went on until at last victory came in sight when over two million dough-boys went to die for it on the battlefields of France. Among all the organizations that have been engaged in this work none has done more valiant service than the Masonic Fraternity.

From the day when our three great Masters build the magnificent temple on Mt. Moriah the Masonic order has proclaimed in all countries and to all peoples its two fundamental tenets, the fatherhood of God and the brotherhood of man.

Its work has been accomplished without the aid of the sword, the thunder of guns or the crash of battle. No person has ever been persecuted and no martyr has ever died upon the rack or at the stake by its decree. Its path has not been drenched in blood or sprinkled with tears or followed by the curses of men and the wails of widows and orphans.

In place of the many Parthenons that the nations have erected to their deities we have reared but one temple, of the purest white, glorious in its simplicity, above whose minarets forever hovers the angel of peace and in whose holy of holies but one God, is worshipped and adored, the loving Father of all mankind. Those who seek to enter its portals are not asked to believe in any particular dogma or to profess faith in any particular creed. They are not asked to disobey or disregard any law or any regulation of civil society. The only demand made is that they shall believe in one supreme universal God and that all men are brothers and that, so far as lies in their power, they shall do good unto all men and evil to none, so that when their life work is ended the record of their lives shall be as pure and as spotless as the apron they wear.

From these principles and of their very essence have followed particular duties and practices of the craft. To keep faith with all men particularly with the brethren. To protect and defend a brother on all lawful occasions and warn him of approaching danger. If his acts cannot be defended then to throw about him the broad mantle of Masonic charity and lead his footsteps to a purer, a better life. Under any and all circumstances to protect the honor of woman even unto death. To care for and minister to the wants of a poor and distressed brother, his wife, widow and children not only with material things and pecuniary aid but with the far more valuable gifts of companionship, consolation and love.

Of all charities money giving is the least. A pat on the back, a smile, a word of encouragement, a heartfelt sympathy, an expressed belief in the good intentions of another are worth more and will do more good than all the wealth found in the tomb of the lately dug up Pharaoh.

Every Mason is bound to, and every decent man will, keep inviolate the secrets of another when over communicated to him in confidence. There is hardly a man in middle life but that there comes to him a time when he would gladly give all he has if he could only find some one to whom he could tell his troubles. O what a relief that would be. He knows that to a brother Mason he can tell all and that his lips will be forever closed.

There is one other thing that every man, especially a Mason, should do. In my feeble way I have tried to do it during all my life and I know it accomplishes more good and serves as a means to save more men than any other thing. It is simply this. Never judge a man simply by what he does or does not do. One of the most profound minds that England ever held said that to judge a man's life simply by his acts was to make of it merely a chronology and that chronology was the history of fools. In order to judge a man correctly you must know not only what he does or does not do but why he does or does not do it. You must know the why. Ah the why! You must know that But men do not, cannot carry their heart upon their sleeves. They cannot tell the why. Their lips must remain closed. During the sixty odd years that I have lived I have known men in every walk and station of life. God men and bad men. Saints and sinners. I have known many men who have been criticized and denounced and damned for things they had done. I have listened to pitiful stories without number and heard the faltering accents of deathbed confessions. I have defended many a man for crime and stood between him and the ghastly arms of the electric chair and I know that in many, many cases our judgment of the man would have been different. O so different, if he could have told, if we had known the why. God pity us all in our pitiful strife.

Do you remember that scene in Les Miserables where the good bishop goes to the guillotine with the wretch, half beast, who had murdered scores of men and women and children and who prayed and absolved him before the knife descended. When the good bishop came down from the scaffold his face shone like the sun and a halo of light played about his head. Some of his parishioners asked the bishop why he had attended such a wretch as that and he replied, "My children up there on that scaffold I kept saying to myself but for the grace of God there stand I. O my brother O my brother. Be merciful, be charitable. Before you judge another know the why. Forever and forever keep saying to yourself, but for the grace of God there stand I."

There comes to my mind a legend, a thing I had half forgot. And whether I read it, or dreamed it, ah, well, it matters not—

It is said that in heaven at twilight a great bell softly swings. And man may listen and harken to the wonderful music that rings.

If he puts from his heart's inner chamber all the passion, pain and strife.

Heart ache and weary longing that throb in the pulses of life. If he thrusts from his soul all hatred, all thought of wicked things. He can hear in the hazy twilight how the bell of the angels rings.

And I think there lies in this legend. If we open our hearts to see. Somewhat of an inner meaning, my friend for you and for me. Let us look in our hearts and question, can pure thoughts enter in. To a soul if it be already the dwelling of thoughts of sin.

So then let us ponder a little, let us look in our hearts and see the twilight bell of the angels ringing for us, for you and me.

Short but pointed and enthusiastic addresses were then made by each of the visiting grand officers, after which the chapter was closed, having fittingly celebrated the passing of its hundredth mile stone.

Mt. Horeb Chapter numbered, at its anniversary on February 5, 467 Royal Arch Masons, one of whom, Ex Comp. Thaddeus O. Taylor, died on February 13, and it commences its second century under most auspicious conditions.

Daddy's Evening Fairy Tale

by MARY GRAHAM BONNER

DEER FAMILY

"I don't suppose," said the Sambar Deer, "that I am to be admired as you are, but I have my own good points."

"I am very, very large. In fact, I do not believe there is any deer in the Indian jungles who can boast of my size, unless, of course, he is a member of my family."

"We like to grow to a good size," the Sambar Deer continued, "and we do so whether we are here or in the Indian jungles."

"We like it in the zoo, and we like to welcome the lovely young fawns here. We do not complain of the weather."

"The Rhinoceros, who is a great big creature, is kept warm in the winter time, but even if some animals or creatures were kept warm and well fed, and looked after, they would grumble about what the weather was doing."

"We take very well to zoo life, and so do the deer children. Even a fawn who is not more than a year or so old is a good-sized deer."

"Now, some creatures, when they are only a year old, aren't very big, but such is not the way with us."

"We aren't as big as the Elk family, but we aren't so very much smaller."

"We haven't as big antlers as they have, either, though ours are good-sized."

"Covered With Handsome Spots."

"In fact, we're generous when it comes to size. We aren't much on looks. Our hair isn't particularly soft or pretty, but we make up for such shortcomings by our generosity as to size and the way we take to zoo life."

"In India, where our family came from, they used to hunt and kill us and eat us. But here in the zoo we are so safe, so safe."

"But you, Mr. Axis Deer, are so beautiful. You are as lovely as ever a deer could be, and that is very lovely."

"You are covered with handsome spots. Such lovely whitish spots as you have. Everyone admires your spots, and envies them, I'm sure."

"Oh, I don't know," said Mr. Axis Deer, "as I think that everyone envies our spots. Some creatures wouldn't care to have spots, but we care for them. We've always liked to dress in this way."

"We, too, have good-sized antlers. We, too, like to welcome the children to the zoo. Oh, yes, we like zoo life immensely."

"It is pleasant here, and we are so safe. We never make any trouble, and why should we?"

"I don't think we should. I don't think any one should make trouble for those who are good to one. And so we don't make any trouble."

"We show them that we like to be here as well as they like to have us here. We like to show them that we aren't homesick for our jungle home in India."

"The children have never seen India but it doesn't matter, for they have seen America and that is enough. They haven't traveled all over America but that doesn't matter. They have seen a part of America and a lovely part."

"They have seen these cool wood-like parts of the zoo and they have lifted their soft eyes and have said: 'Is this our home?'"

"And we have told them that it was their home."

"Then they have said: 'We are so very glad for it is beautiful here. It is beautiful indeed. We like to look at the people.'"

"Then we have told them to look at the people but to look their best. We have told them it was nice to look at the people in a friendly fashion but not to stare in a rude fashion and I think they have all done as they have been told."

"They have looked at the people out of their beautiful eyes but they have never looked rudely. They have almost said, with their lovely eyes: 'Dear people, we are glad to see you and are glad to hear that you admire our beauty, for we think you're nice to look at too, and that this world is a very lovely one, and this zoo very wonderful.'"

"Innocent Darling. While Grandpa was dozing on the couch Baby Mildred tried to awake him by pulling his eyelashes with her small fingers. Grandpa scolded her for disturbing him. 'I was only trying to open your eyes by the strings, Grandpa,' she said, tearfully.—Boston Transcript.

GAS BUGGIES—If They Had Automobiles in G. Washington's Day

THE KITCHEN CABINET

(C. 1923, Western Newspaper Union)

Good name in man or woman, dear my lord, Is the immediate jewel of their souls. Who steals my purse, steals trash; 'Tis something, nothing. 'Twas mine, 'tis his, and has been slave to thousands. But he that filches from me my good name, Robs me of that, which neither riches nor beauty can restore to me. And makes me poor indeed. —Shakespeare's "Othello, the Moor of Venice"

DISHES FOR THE CONVALESCENT

The convalescent should be given as much variety in food as possible, as weak digestions and poor appetites are apt to tire of food served in the same way much quicker than persons in health. It is hard to realize that a person who is ill or is recovering from illness is out of balance mentally as well as physically, so it is necessary to be patient and humor them as much as is possible. Persons recovering from a fever are apt to be ravenously hungry and will eat more than is good for them. The liquid food may be given in larger quantities, but the solid food must be given in small quantities.

Blasque of Clam and Sago.—Roll an ounce of sago in salted water—the water in which the sago has soaked overnight. Cook until perfectly transparent, then add one-half cupful of boiling milk and a teaspoonful of butter. Pass the clams through a meat chopper, bring them to a boil in their own liquor, add the sago, season to taste with salt and pepper, thicken with cracker crumbs and serve in a pretty bowl with thin toasted bread.

Prune Whip.—Stew a half-dozen prunes with a little sugar and lemon juice, in the same water in which they have been soaked overnight. Put them through a sieve, add the beaten white of an egg and serve heaped in a glass with a dot of whipped cream.

Pineapple Pudding.—Place in a double boiler a half cupful of water. When boiling add a tablespoonful of sugar and stir in the yolk of an egg, mixed with a teaspoonful of corn starch. Stir until smooth and thick, then add one-half cupful of grated pineapple or pineapple juice. Beat to the boiling point, then fold in the stiffly beaten egg white and chill. Heap up in a glass or pretty pudding dish and top with whipped cream.

Curious Old Paper. A RELIC OF THE PAST

A subscriber of The Freeman whose name is withheld by request, writes as follows:

I have a paper in my possession, a genuine article. "Brother Jonathan" is the name of it. It is "a jubilee number, price 12½ cents, issued every Fourth of July and Christmas," and is dated Fourth of July, 1845. It is an eight page paper, size 32 inches by 22 inches. Four pages are illustrated and there are a number of songs of the Revolution, songs of the late war, naval and military victories and patriotic odes, also anecdotes of the Revolution. "The Village Prize," a tale of Washington, and several other stories of Washington. The front page is Washington's reception by the ladies on passing the bridge at Trenton, N. J., on his way to New York to be inaugurated first president of the United States. The paper was found in my father's desk after his death.

Pinochle Party and Entertainment.

A progressive pinochle party and entertainment will be held this evening at Pythian Hall, corner of Broadway and Thomas street by the members of Franklin Lodge and their friends. A number of substantial prizes have been donated and will be awarded the winners. In addition to the pinochle party there will be a radio program and entertainment. Refreshments will also be served.

All Fat People Should Know This

Fat people owe a debt of gratitude to the author of the now famous Marmola Prescription, and are still more indebted for the reduction of this harmful, effective obesity remedy to tablet form. Marmola Prescription Tablets can be obtained at all drug stores the world over at the reasonable price of one dollar for a case, or you can secure them direct on receipt of price from the Marmola Co., 4612 Woodward Avenue, Detroit, Mich. This now leaves no excuse for dieting or violent exercise for the reduction of the overfat body to normal.

SAWKILL.

Sawkill, Feb. 22.—St. Wendelin's Church, Ruby, on Sunday, February 18th, a very enthusiastic meeting was held after 10:30 Mass. Election of officers of the Christian Mothers of St. Ann, for the ensuing year: Mrs. Charles Stauble, president; Mrs. Catherine Berg, secretary and treasurer. The Children of Mary also held election of officers. The following were elected: Miss Mary Byrne, president; Miss Mabel Young, secretary; Miss Jennie Stauble, treasurer. The church services were well attended considering the weather, with some of the snow-bound roads. St. Ann's Church on the same day, the Junior Holy Name Society elected the following officers at 4 o'clock after vesper service: Dan Callahan, president; Vincent Callahan, secretary and treasurer. Father Vaeth gave a short talk on the fidelity to the church of God.

On Sunday, February 25, the election of officers of the Senior Holy Name Societies will take place at St. Wendelin's Church and at St. Ann's Church, if weather permits. The children of both parishes are preparing for their first communion and confirmation instructions.

St. Wendelin's Church, Ruby, Sunday, February 25, Mass and sermon at 8:30 a. m. Sunday School after.

Mr. &amp; Mrs. W. W. Clark.

When Miss Aileen Asté Peters, of Zurich, Switzerland, met Sergeant Engineers W. W. Clark, U. S. A., in Coblenz, his army pay, multiplied to German marks, looked like a million dollars a minute. She loved him, when he returned to America she followed. He told her he was poor, but that made no difference to her, for she is rich. He married her, but, regretted to touch her money. Now, wearing overalls, he is following his regular profession as a bridge worker, near Cherry Vale, Kansas. She is perfectly satisfied that her husband is a workman, despite her wealth.

FULLER TEAM STRENGTHS LEAD

The Fuller squad raised their standing in the Mercantile Bowling League when they sent the Telephone Company down to the place formerly occupied by the shirt makers. All three of the games went to the Fuller team Wednesday night, and by good margins. Peyer got in good form in the third game and rolled high score of 205 which gave him the average honors of 172. Jones bowled best for the losers, averaging 153.

ST. MARY'S QUINTET DEFEATS JUDEA TEAM

On Wednesday afternoon St. Mary's School basketball team defeated the Young Judea, Jr., representing the local Hebrew school, by the score 24-2. Despite the long score the game was very interesting. St. Mary's boys gave an exhibition of clever all-around floorwork and snappy, accurate passing. Dave Long of the victors rolled up six baskets for a total of twelve points, while Ed Lang playing center for Dave's team was everywhere at the right moment. S. Avnet of the Judeas led his team both in defense and in attack. The score:

GALLI SAYS PASTOR CAMPAIGNED FOR COONS

The Albany Knickerbocker-Press has the following in connection with the legislative hearing into the activities of the Anti-Saloon League in the last political campaign: "Frank A. Galli, of Catskill, editor of the Catskill Enterprise, was also called to the stand by Mr. Gillett. He charged the Rev. A. M. Wilkins, a field agent of the league and pastor of a Catskill church, with campaigning for H. W. Coons, the league's candidate for the Republican nomination for congressman in that district. Mr. Wilkins, he declared, organized the women of his church before the primaries and instructed them to solicit votes for Mr. Coons."

ST. PETER'S DEFEAT EAST KINGSTON 27-13

At East Kingston Wednesday night the St. Peter's team of this city defeated the East Kingston Five in a fast and interesting game. During the game Carr, of the East Kingston Five, was knocked out. In pursuance of a judgment of foreclosure and sale made and entered in the above entitled action, bearing date the 22nd day of January, 1923, and entered in the Ulster County Clerk's office on the 24th day of January, 1923, I, the undersigned Referee in said judgment named, will sell at public auction at the front door of the court house in Kingston, in the County of Ulster, N. Y., on the 30th day of March, 1923, at 11 o'clock in the forenoon of that day, the following described premises:

All that tract or parcel of land situate in the Town of Kingston, County of Ulster and State of New York, briefly described as follows: Lot one hundred and twenty (120), fifteen (15) acres more or less, bounded northerly by the Elmendorf property, easterly by lands now or formerly of E. Sweeney and Son, southerly by lands of James Leary and westerly by lands of J. Snyder, against which the words "Peeney, Patrick, widow appear on the assessment roll of the Town of Kingston, for the year 1895." Being the same premises conveyed by Tax deed dated March 4, 1902 from Nathan J. Miller, the Comptroller of the State of New York for the people of said State to Ferdinand Goldpach, which deed was duly recorded in the office of the County Clerk of Ulster County on February 24, 1903 in book of deeds 374 on page 606, to which deed and the record thereof reference is hereby made for a more full and complete description of the premises hereby conveyed.

Being the same premises conveyed by Anna Referee, Henneberry. Timer, Fay. M. Goldpach to George H. Muller by deed dated November 16, 1920, recorded in book 478 of deeds at page 538.

Dated, Kingston, N. Y., February 14, 1923.
JOHN B. STERLEY,
Referee.

Friedrich Stephan, Jr., Attorney for Plaintiff, Office and Post Office Address, 3 East Strand, Kingston, Ulster County, N. Y.

THE PEOPLE OF THE STATE OF NEW YORK, By the Grace of God, Free and Independent.

To May K. Gordon, 25 Green street, Kingston, N. Y., widow; Edith Gordon, 52 Angel street, Providence, R. I., legatee; Carl Gordon, 52 Angel street, Providence, R. I., legatee; and to all persons interested in the estate of Harry S. Gordon, late of the town of Wawarsing, County of Ulster, and State of New York, deceased, as creditors, legatees, next of kin, or otherwise:

SEND GREETING: You and each of you are hereby cited to show cause at a Surrogate Court, to be held in and for the County of Ulster, at the Surrogate's office, in the City of Kingston, in said county, on the 26th day of March next, at ten o'clock in the forenoon of that day, why the account of proceedings of John R. Deany of the village of Ellenville, Ulster County, as Executor of the Last Will and Testament of said deceased, should not be judicially settled and allowed upon the petition of said Executor.

IN TESTIMONY WHEREOF, we have caused the seal of office of said Surrogate to be hereunto affixed. Witness, Hon. George F. Kaufman, Surrogate of our said County, at the City of Kingston, in the year of our Lord, one thousand, nine hundred and twenty-three.

CARPET CITY TEAM HERE TONIGHT

Amsterdam Team Going Strong Should Give Locals Stiff Battle—No Change in Line-ups.

Amsterdam will try to complete its good work of late by downing the Kingston representatives of the New York State basketball circuit tonight at the local armory court. Amsterdam now stands third in the list and from the showing it has been making lately is in the running for the league honors. The Carpet City aggregation will probably use the same line-up that has been recently doing the good work. Smolick and Schwab, forwards; Griebel, center; Kennedy, Sullivan and Fontain, guards.

The Kingston team will undoubtedly use Borgman, C. Powers, C. Husta, Harvey and Tome, or M. Husta. The game is scheduled for 8:30 o'clock. The Morgenweck clan is now leading in the league.

LARGE CROWD SEES "THE MINISTER'S WIFE COME BACK"

At Albany Avenue Baptist Church on Wednesday Evening.

On Wednesday evening, the "Minister's Wife Come Back," to find so many people waiting for her that chairs had to be put in the aisles of the Albany Avenue Baptist Church. Although she finally did get back from the convention, her train was late and any number of things happened while the minister himself and some of the "characters" in his church as well as Billy, his friend, and Kate, Billy's sister, waited her arrival. There were vocal solos, duets, trios and choruses, humorous and serious, skits and sketches, considerable talk, and not a little "sassing back," all of which called forth heartiest applause and much laughter from the big audience. And some of the costumes were voluminously funny. Those taking part in the entertainment were: James Rowe as the Rev. Mr. Grundy, the minister.

Mrs. E. Leverett as Hepsibah Grundy, who returns from the convention.

Miss Lillian Healy as Kate Butcher, an old college chum of Hepsibah's.

Mrs. John Linson as Cayenne Pepper, who still stutters.

Miss Mae Decker as Dephe Harda, heart, who was still using an ear trumpet.

Mrs. H. W. Smith as Agatha Squalls, who had cooled down a little.

Miss Lella Reynolds as Samantha Slick.

Miss Ethel Hull as Vivian Walker.

Mrs. Harry Klotz as Nodanna Simpkins.

W. W. Brady as Always Knoxit, always on the job.

Ralph Deyo as Hugh Howler.

Lester Decker as Billy Butcher, a jolly good fellow.

Mrs. John Matthews acted as the accompanist.

At the close of the entertainment the young people sold home made candy.

SHANDAKEN.

Shandaken, Feb. 22.—Henry Van Buren of Brooklyn is visiting his grandfather, Edmund Riseley.

Miss More, the principal of our school, has been ill for a few days and her room has had no school.

Mr. and Mrs. Earl Holden are receiving congratulations over the arrival of a son.

Mrs. F. S. Osterhout has returned from a visit to Washington, D. C. and New York.

The Rev. L. R. Long came from Albany and officiated in the M. E. Church on Sunday morning as usual. In spite of the bad roads he also made connection at other points on the charge.

The people of Shandaken are very fortunate in having the roads kept in such fine condition. We will miss the Ulen Construction Company when they go. In such "old fashioned winters" as this, a few tractors and snow plows through the country would come handy.

Miss Esther Olmstead of Allaben spent the week end with Miss Phyllis Osterhout.

Harry Keller has been confined to the house with grip.

Mrs. Hattie Johnson of Haines Falls is visiting her daughter, Mrs. Earl Holden.

Miss Ethel Gossoo has had a fine new Westinghouse radio installed.

The fuel condition here is not serious. Some people are out of coal and waiting for a car that is expected. In the meantime they are trying wood in the furnace.

Titano at Bottom of Ocean.

The Titanic has never been raised and it is assumed that the giant steamer is resting quietly at the bottom of the Atlantic ocean. The fact that sounding leads and dredging nets sink to the bottom of the ocean even at depths of six miles tends to prove that any weight heavier than water will sink to the bottom in the deepest ocean.

MEN'S SUPPER AND SPEAKING AT FIRST DUTCH TONIGHT.

The men's dinner at the First Dutch Reformed Church this evening will be attended by a capacity crowd. All of the tickets have been disposed of and only those who hold tickets will be admitted. Arrangements have been made to serve 200. The main entrance of the church will be open at 6 o'clock and supper will be served promptly at 6:30. The turkey dinner will be served by the young ladies of the Henrietta Wynkoop Guild and following the supper there will be a very interesting and entertaining program, which has been prepared by the speakers' committee which is as follows: Judge A. T. Clearwater, Judge G. D. B. Hasbrouck, Judge James Jenkins and the pastor, the Rev. Lucas Boeve. The speakers are Dr. Charles H. Johnson, LL. D., of Albany, secretary of the state board of charities, and the Rev. W. Warren Giles, D. D., of East Orange, N. J.

Matthew D. Biddulph, alias John F. Derby, alias R. A. Marshall, was arrested in Albany, New York, and taken to New York city, where he confessed he was one of three men who seized Mrs. Irene Schoellkopf, wife of a multi-millionaire Buffalo man, in a New York apartment and robbed her of $500,000 worth of jewels while she was attending a New Year's Eve party in the studio of Frank Carman, her paid companion and dancing partner. Biddulph asserted he had in turn been robbed of all the gems by his two confederates who have not been apprehended.

U. S. EATING LESS
BEEF PER CAPITAAgricultural Department Notes
Steady Decline Since 1907.

CATTLE NOW GIVE MORE MEAT

Country's Potential Supply Greater, Though Herds Are Smaller—Between 1911 and 1921 There Was a Decrease in Consumption of Beef and Veal in the United States Amounting to 20 Per Cent—Variations in Demand.

Although there are fewer cattle in the United States than in previous years, it is possible to raise more beef than when there were more cattle. This somewhat contradictory statement is explained by the United States Department of Agriculture by noting that more beef cows are kept on ranches and farms and beef cattle are slaughtered at an earlier age.

In a discussion of the American cattle industry during the last 75 years, the Yearbook of the department for 1921, just out, describes the growth and changes of practice. The use of younger cattle for beef, the Yearbook explains, involves the use of more harvested feed to the amount of beef produced. Larger gains in weight are made on harvested feed than when steers were carried four or five seasons on grass.

Big Decrease in Three Years.
The number of cattle has decreased in recent years, the article states, but it is greater than in any year from 1896 to 1917. There has been an increase in the percentage of beef calves, heifers, cows and bulls, and a decrease in the percentage of steers, especially aged steers. The number of cattle in the country increased 10,200,000 from 1914 to 1919, but during the last three years there has been a decrease of 2,900,000 head. However, the greater proportion of cows at present makes it possible to grow more beef, especially if more of the calves, instead of being slaughtered, are fed out as yearlings.

"That the country can readily respond to a quickened demand for beef was demonstrated during the war, when production was so stimulated that during 1917 and 1918 combined more than one billion pounds of beef were exported, which was 7 per cent of our production and 22 per cent of the exports of the world during the period," the Yearbook says. "Since about 1905 South America and Australia have been the chief sources of surplus beef."

Consumption Falling Off.
Americans are eating less beef per capita than formerly, it is stated. The consumption of beef and veal in the United States decreased from 87 pounds a person in 1907 to 60 pounds in 1916. Between 1911 and 1921 there was a decrease in consumption amounting to approximately 20 per cent.

The article tells of the variations in demand in various cities and in changing seasons. High-class hotels, it is noted, want prime, fat and finished beef, while the average housewife wants beef involving less waste. In warm weather the principal demand is for steaks and chops, while the winter trade demands more roasts and boiling meat. The orthodox Jewish trade uses only the forequarters, while Gentiles, as a rule, prefer hind-quarters of beef.

A survey in 1920 showed that nearly 22 per cent of the beef produced was consumed in the north Atlantic states. The next largest amount, or 24 per cent, was consumed in the east-north-central division. In other words, more than 55 per cent of the total consumption was in the territory east of the Mississippi and north of the Ohio river and Maryland. The smallest consumption was in the south Atlantic division.

The survey of the beef cattle situation leads to the conclusion, according to the department experts, that the period of liquidation is over and that when industrial conditions and retail prices permit a normal consumption of beef, cattle producers should be prosperous again.

BRITISH SWAT HOUSE FLIES

Decided Decrease in Infant Mortality
Is the Result.

A reduction in the number of house flies from myriads to a comparatively few has been accomplished in England through sanitation and health propaganda, according to a statement by Dr. E. Halford Ross, medical assessor at the ministry of pensions.

Doctor Ross toured the British Isles last summer, and in those places where previously there had been thousands of flies they were conspicuous by their absence, he declares. Some out-of-the-way villages and farmhouses still sheltered the grubs and insects, but these locations were not numerous.

There has been a very great decrease in the figures on infant mortality, as compared to 1911, and the improvement is credited by Doctor Ross to the relative absence of flies.

Washwoman Leaves $12,000 Estate.
Mrs. Sarah A. Rose, colored washwoman who died recently at Middletown, N. Y., left an estate of $12,000, according to terms of her will, which has just been admitted to probate.

"Doc" Waterbury Paroled.

"Doc" Waterbury, a swindler of note, was brought from an Auburn cell on Wednesday to appear before Judge Rosalsky in General Sessions in New York to answer to an old indictment of grand larceny. Because of his good behavior while in the Auburn prison and numerous other signs of repentance the justice decided to parole the "Doc" to the home of his father in Rhine. The Doc is now 45 years old.

BUSINESS NOTICES

Eggs testing highest in nutriment by specific gravity will hatch a larger per cent of chickens and the very strongest. Avoid hatching weaklings. Such eggs are also best for sickness and children. Particulars with chart, 25c. A. G. Wolven, Route 1, Box 194, Ulster Park, N. Y.

"He's the very image of his daddy!" exclaimed William S. Hart, famous screen actor, as he first gazed upon his son. True enough, but William S. Hart, Jr., failed to bring about a reconciliation between his father and mother, the latter the beautiful Winifred Westover Hart, who had left her husband's pretentious home in Los Angeles before the birth of the baby.

The marriage of Cornelius Vandervilt Whitney, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Payne Whitney and grandson of the late Cornelius Vanderbilt, Miss Marie Norton, New York society girl, will be solemnized in Paris March 5.

INCOME TAX
INFORMATION

A free question and answer bureau is being conducted by The Freeman for readers who desire information on federal or state income taxes. It is personally edited by Charles A. Secor, of Secor, Ronder & Co., tax counsellors and public accountants of Kingston, New York, and Washington, and all rights are reserved. All questions will be answered confidentially by letter to our readers and a two cent stamp should be enclosed for reply postage.

Item 8. Taxpayers who derive a profit from the operation of a stone quarry, sand bank, or clay deposit should deduct as an element of cost a depletion expense. Such depletion may be taken by the owner, or in the event of a lease, by the lessee, or both. The same holds true as to timber tracts. Where exploration and discovery work has been done by a taxpayer. The maximum tax attributed to a bona fide sale of the property is limited to sixteen percent. The method of arriving at the amount of an annual mineral depletion will gladly be furnished to any reader who will describe the extent and location of such property, the estimated tonnage or quantity contained therein, date acquired, and the amount taken therefrom yearly from 1913 to 1922 inclusive. Any concern or corporation that have paid taxes without depletion in 1917 cannot amend their returns for that year after March 1, 1923, as the statute of limitations will prevent, but amended returns for refund purposes can still be made for the years 1918 to 1921 inclusive. Contrary to popular beliefs refunds of taxes are now paid with comparative promptness by the government.

CURRENT OFFERINGS
AT THE THEATERS

"The Unloved Wife," Especially for Women, Friday and Saturday.

The new picture starting at Keeney's Theater today features Constance Talmadge in "East Is West." The story takes an altogether delectable little Chinese maid, who "don't feel China," and puts her in danger of the hideous things that can happen to a Chinese girl whose father sells her as a slave. Billy Benson, son of the American minister to China, meets the Chinese girl and then things begin to happen.

The double feature offering at the Opera House today brings Rex Beach's "Fair Lady" adapted from his famous novel "The Net," a story of old New Orleans. The second picture shows Charles "Buck" Jones in a story of the Canadian Northwest Mounted Police "Trooper O'Neill."

At the Auditorium Earle Williams in "Fortune's Mask," an exciting tale of a small revolution in Central America, will be shown. Also Charles Hutchison in "The Speed King." Friday Neal Hart in "The Heart of a Texan."

"The Unloved Wife" the new three act comedy drama which has been extolled by critics as one of the most satisfying productions of the season, will be the attraction at the Kingston Opera House Friday and Saturday with daily matinees for ladies only, although at night everybody over the age of sixteen can go.

Belief in "Evil Eye."

Prudent Italians habitually wear a horn of coral or ivory on a necklace or watch chain. Carters sling a bull's horn under their wagons for the protection of their horses. Workmen, and even babies, wearing bright red caps may be seen in cities or in the country. These are victims of a "jettatura," or person with the "Evil Eye," and must wear a scarlet cap for a mystic number of days to take away the curse.

Even the most intelligent Italians are among those believing in the "Evil Eye." Giuseppe Verdi counted two of his fiascos—"Luisa Miller," in Naples, and "Don Carlos," in Paris 19 years later, in 1876—as the work of a "jettatura." Maestro Tale, of Naples.

BASKETBALL SERIES BEGINS AT ELLENVILLE FRIDAY

The Wanderers and Independents both Ellenville basketball teams will play Friday night, February 23, at Norbury Hall. This is the athletic event of the season. Both teams have been playing clean, fast basketball all season and have secured notable wins over the best teams in this vicinity. This is the first of a series of games between these two teams. The line up: Wanderers—McDonald, Trap-hagen and H. Rippert, forwards; Dolson, center; Wright, Rosenberger and Benson, guards.
Independents—Shurter, Taylor and G. Rippert, forwards; Kane, center; Eckert, Barley and Wilkow, guards. Referee, Rence; umpire, Hughes. Dancing afterwards. Music by Rosenthal's Syncopators.

Realistic.
In a school essay a child wrote that a thrush said, "Mrs. Hewitt, Mrs. Hewitt" so often and so clearly in their village that at last Mrs. Hewitt came to her door and said "Test".

COHOES AND AMSTERDAM WIN

Cohoes defeated Troy Wednesday evening at the latter's court by a 31 to 20 score. The game was nip and tuck throughout. Neidle and Carlin for the losers were the big point getters, each having a total of nine. Referee Solodar as usual was the eleventh hour man in a stiff battle. The score:

Tonight's Game.
Amsterdam at Kingston.

Hard to Imagine
In whatever way it comes to pass, we know that when we see a new star we are witnessing the actual explosion of a sun. You know what occurs when a few grains of gunpowder are ignited; try to imagine the same thing happening to a huge globe weighing billions upon billions of tons! The force created is a million billion times greater than that of an explosion of dynamite.
